Magnetic Drawing #55
Corner Piece
1986
3/6

This piece consists of a single length of red thread with a polymer magnet attached to each end. Three nails are positioned 70cm apart to form an equilateral triangle. The attracting magnets should hold the thread taut, but should not touch. The gap between the magnets should be approximately 6mm. See diagram.

P.S. The position of the nails may have to be altered slightly depending whether the corner is a right angle.
