

A BÖTTGER STONEWARE PILGRIM FLASK

Meissen, c. 1711. Relief decoration by Johann Jacob Irminger (1633-1724).

Derived from a chased silver form, with "Pallas" head female masks, each with foliate headdress and supported on a leaf console. The lower section moulded in relief with a lambrequin band above a waisted and gadrooned oval foot.

H 15.2 cm (17.5 cm).

Minimal restoration to the mouth. Various bottles are first noted in the factory inventory of 1711, including: "44 boutilllen mit 2 Köpfen an seiten (gebrannt)" (C. Boltz, Formen des Böttgersteinzeugs im Jahre 1711, KFS MB no.96, 1982, p.30). For comparable works, see Staatliche Kunstsammlungen
